BARLEY FIELDS ARE GONE

The Marvelous Transition of the Beautiful San Fernando

TROPICO, THE BEST

Offers Ideal Conditions for Homes. Beautiful Surroundings. Hospitable Men and Women. Harold Janss Enthusiastic.

Harold Janss, in a recent article, has sung the praises of the great San Fernando Valley in a most pleasing way. His article shows in a most striking way the wonderful advancement being made by this favored section. Millions have been spent in development and the work has only just begun.

Tropico, the Beautiful, by location, and by virtue of her pre-eminent advantages is, by rights, destined to be the peer of all this vast fertile region.

Mr. Janss says:

"Whether guided by some pre-ordained destiny or possessed of inexplicable acumen, certain it is that the kindly padres of other days discerned at a glance the wealth of every valley wherein they built their wondrous missions and set themselves to the tilling of barren fields.

"Shelter from sea-roaming pirates and marauding bandits undoubtedly urged these cowed proselyters to inland recesses, but it was their utilitarian purpose of agriculture and cattle raising that gave final choice to their valley abodes.

"Today the ruins of each of those old 'dobe cathedrals and monasteries, the whole length of the state, is the center of wealth and productivity. They dreamed well, those crusaders of the faith.

"And of all the valleys wherein they found peace and plenty and where their chimneys rang matins o'er latent richness none has achieved more splendid realization of prophecy than the vast and fertile San Fernando valley.

"Yet the abundance of its yield and the impetuous growth of its thriving cities is of such modernity that a few years back saw these teeming acres as void of cultivation as they were when desolation followed the passing of the chants.

"San Fernando valley is hidden from Los Angeles only by the turrets of the Sierras Santa Monica. It is scarcely a brief walk from the city limits, past Hollywood, up over Calhoun Pass (where a fearsome old renege of that name lurked to prey on the rich Spaniards who traveled El Camino Real to enjoy neighborly hospitalities), into this great valley.

"From the summit of the pass spreads out the wonderful vista of fields and groves, farms and cities, that are comprised in the level immensity of area.

"More than 140,000 acres lie in the valley—acres that two or three years ago could have been bought for, say, $100, and are now worth $500 upward. Some, even, might have been secured for $25, and it is less than ten years since 1700 acres were sold for $33.

"All of San Fernando valley and a great territory to the north was deeded by Pio Pico, last of the Spanish governors of California, to Eulogio de Cella, who founded a rancho, had cattle by tens of thousands to roam the ranges and gave over his time to the entertainment of travelers who came to barbecues and fiestas to make merry, to court and to marry, to intrigue and to dare, even to the day that General Fremont and his gringos invaded and subdued the great southwest and annexed its vastness as an integral part of the United States.

"From the passing of the Spanish regime San Fernando valley was merely 'rancho land,' a grazing place for sheep and cattle. Around the old mission, long abandoned and wearing away under rainy-spell inclemency, developed first the little town of San Fernando, now a populous place of two or more thousand persons, the center of fertility and the dividing point for several of the motor highways either built or contemplated to the north, east and the west.

Development was slow, however. The valley lands gradually passed into the possession of now over twenty persons. Barley was its product, although with no real effort at cultivation, despite the immense area of these fields.

"Awakening first came with the big Owens river aqueduct project—the stupendous water system by which Los Angeles reaches out hundreds of miles into the mountains and ex-dumps a snow-made lake into 'her domestic faucets.

"The realization that this aqueduct, now so near completion, would come into the San Fernando valley stirred promoters and developers from their lethargy, and the barley fields became invaded with an army of surveyors and subdividers, little farmers and speculators, city makers and electric car line builders. As recent as the beginning of the aqueduct is the development of this valley.

"Today San Fernando town, practically the sole community center of the valley proper for long years and undisputed by Glendale, Tropico and Burbank, which have grown up in the eastern curve of the inland stretch, is not only progressing in numbers, in per capita wealth, but there are the towns of Owensmouth, Van Nuys, Lankershim, Chatsworth Park, Mulholland and other communities whose brief existence is filled with tales Aladdin-like in the magic of their rising.

Great land corporations fostered this growth. The aqueduct has started these companies to investigation and they found that this valley was the valley of opportunity, whether or not the Owens river water was ever brought to or near Los Angeles.

These companies marked places on a map and said these shall be towns. And in a few months these blue penciled specks were towns—busy, alert, thriving towns, with electric lights, telephones, postoffices, school houses, commercial centers, parks, boulevards, warehouses, street cars, banks and every concomitant to prosperity.

"Good roads abound in this valley—the roads to San Fernando and Newhall, the coast motor route to Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Francisco, and most spectacular of all, a $500,000 asphalt boulevard eighteen miles long, bordered with double rows of roses against a background of oleanders, cedars and citrus trees, electric lighted its entire distance, connects Los Angeles with the town of Owensmouth. This is a world noted private boulevard made for public use.

"San Fernando valley was delayed in the inception of its prosperity, but it now ranks with any other southland valley in its harvests. What five, ten or more years shall see is, in very surmise, a matter not for legitimate prophecy."

A BEAUTIFUL POSSIBILITY

Why not make our charming little town of Tropico the beauty spot of the San Fernando valley?

Let us picture what it might be a year from now.—Every lawn green and smooth, every parkway in lawn or ivy geranium, trees on both sides of every street, every vacant lot either under cultivation or planted in California poppies or wild flowers. Every backyard clean and pretty. Perhaps—who knows?—a little park, inviting and green and picturesque.

No piles of refuse and unsightly garbage holes in the whole length and breadth of our fair little city, because of daily or tri-weekly, collections—consequently, fewer flies.

A beautiful new schoolhouse, with ample grounds, perhaps the southern elevation so arranged that no wall shall exclude the pure air—and every opening in both schools screened from the pestiferous fly. The children organized into a Junior Civic League, each child thereby feeling a responsibility and pride in the cleanliness and beauty of the town.

Perhaps as a further stimulation, prize offers for the best kept and most artistic and beautiful lawns, parkways, backyards, vacant lots, and the cleanest streets.

Then, working side by side for civic betterment, our splendid Woman's club and the new civic association organization should we not be able to make our little city (set like a dream-town, in the midst of the hills) the garden spot of Southern California?

Yours for a town-beautiful.

CIVIC CLUB MEETS

The High Jinx Entertainment a Big Success

GOOD EATS AND WIT

Causes the Evening to Pass on Swift Wings of Pleasure. The Club to be still More Active in Bettering Conditions

Were you at the Civic Club meeting Tuesday night? If you were not you are the loser.

At the previous meeting J. N. Chodwell, Frank McKenney and Charlie Phillips were appointed a committee with instructions to get up a "high jinx" entertainment. They proved themselves adepts and if there was a man present who did not enjoy the evening he most certainly was hard to please.

The committee had used their persuasive powers to induce Mrs. McKenney, Mrs. Chodwell, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. O. T. Clemens, Mrs. J. Herbert Smith and Mrs. H. H. Coles to assist them in preparing the "eats" and most satisfyingly did they perform this duty. The high priced caterers of Los Angeles would not have done as well at five times the expense. There were salads, and sandwiches, pickles and relishes, cakes and condiments, confections and concoctions, all good, daintily prepared and so appealing to the appetite that all reluctantly laid down their knives and forks. There was coffee made from the Tropico Mercantile Company's most famous blend, with fruit and desserts thrown in for good measure. Gee! I wish I could have eaten more.

After the banquet, for it was truly a banquet, cigars, cigarettes and chewing gum were passed. Then Mr. Claire Van Etten was introduced as the toastmaster for the evening. Van Etten is always "on the job" wherever you put him, and this occasion was no exception. He had an apt and appropriate story as he called on each speaker.

Mr. Harry Edwards was called on for a talk on Mexico, past, present and future. Mr. Van Etten asked Mr. J. Herbert Smith for a song and Mr. Smith neatly turned the honor to Mr. Henry Pettit. Mr. Pettit being a new member was forced to respond and sang a selection from a German drinking song so suggestively that Charley Phillips stopped the meeting and made a motion that no more such songs be permitted—it caused too big a thirst.

The toastmaster then asked Wayland Chapman to explain how it was that he could cut porterhouse steaks from off the neck, but Mr. Chapman refused to divulge the secrets of his guild. Dwight Griswold, H. H. Coles, and N. C. Burch were called in and each proved themselves good "story tellers."

Francis Booth was requested to sing and when some one asked him what gave him such sweet tones, answered that it was the effect of "Star Coffee."

Dr. Duncan explained the relationship of physicians to "quacks" and said if any one would visit his neighborhood about 5 a. m. some morning he would still further elucidate the question.

Dr. Worden, F. L. Lake and C. E. Lafountain, although "new comers," did their part to make the evening a pleasant occasion.

Dr. Mabry, health officer, called attention to the condition of the water supply, and urged the Civic Club to take the matter up and effect some badly needed sanitary improvements. He also called attention to the fire escape at the Grammar school, and advised that changes be made so as to make them more usable.

Some one asked the question whether or not the Civic Club should be continued as an active force or allowed to remain dormant for the summer, and with a whoop it was unanimously decided to continue it and to increase its activity.

About 11:30 p. m. the meeting adjourned and all declared the first "high jinx" entertainment of the Civic Club a delightful success.

PROMINENT BUILDER COMPLETING BLOCK.

J. H. Flower, one of the most prominent builders of this valley, is putting the finishing touches on a business block on Broadway, between Orange street and Brand boulevard, which is costing him about $14,000. This building has a frontage of 106 feet. It contains three store rooms on the main floor, one of which is 70 feet front by 50 feet deep, the other two being 18 feet front by 80 feet deep. The large room has already been rented by the Schillings Dry Goods Company, while one of the two smaller rooms, located at the extreme end of the building, will be occupied by McPeak, the plumber. On the second floor there are 21 two- and three-room apartments, four office rooms and an up-to-date photographic studio. This entire floor, with the exception of the studio, has been leased for a term of three years by J. L. Martin, while the studio will be occupied by C. S. Mannville, proprietor of the Gleggarry studio, now located at the corner of Third street and Brand boulevard. This business block has an ornamental brick front, will be equipped with every modern feature, and will have plate glass windows in the store fronts.

This block in connection with the two other business blocks already erected by Mr. Flower at the corner of Broadway and the boulevard, gives Mr. Flower a frontage of 300 feet, 150 feet being on Brand boulevard and 150 feet on Broadway.

The aggregate cost of these buildings foots up to about $34,000. Mr. Flower recently completed an apartment house on Kenwood street between Third street and Broadway, which is entirely occupied. In addition to these structures Mr. Flower has, during the past two or three years, constructed five bungalows, one of these costing $4000, three being worth $4500, while the fifth one was built at a cost of $5000.

By his works Mr. Flower shows that he is a live wire. He has done much toward the up-building of this section.

POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS WED.

Miss Ruth Weil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Weil of Keokuk, Iowa, and Herbert L. Crane of this place, were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. Father O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Church, of this valley, the ceremony taking place at the O'Neill residence. The affair was unusually quiet. Mr. and Mrs. Bruck of 133 North San Fernando road, being the only witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Crane are at home to their many friends at a pretty home prepared by the groom at 119 East Laurel street.

A miscellaneous shower was given complimentary to the bride and groom, recently, by Mr. and Mrs. Bruck at their home, 133 North San Fernando road. The color scheme for the occasion was carried out in pink and white, the colors which were later used in the bride's wedding trousseau. During the early part of the evening music was enjoyed by the sixteen ladies present, and after the evening was partly spent the gentlemen friends of these guests appeared, and up to a late hour games were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

Tropico is awake. During the past week several streets of this city, were given a slight sprinkle of sand, this being done on account of the sun's heat softening the oil on the roads.

Mrs. Boyce, Brand and San Fernando road, entertained quite a number of friends last Thursday in honor of the Misses Curran, of Boston. After the dinner was served, games and music were enjoyed by those present.

The Los Angeles Examiner is getting out a special edition for the time they occupy the new building. This will be in a couple of weeks. Tropico and Glendale should be on the front page.

Mr. A. J. Cook, State Agriculture Commissioner of California, is asking the legislature for $27,000 to fight pests. Mr. Cook says that he has decided to lift the quarantine on Florida fruit which has been in effect for some time, but that he shall insist on a rigid quarantine on all plant life which is commonly infested by the "white fly." All trees shipped into this state from Florida, he says, will have to be defoliated before they can come into the state.

Luther's advice to a young preacher was: "Stand up cheerfully; speak out manfully; leave off speedily."—Standard.

THE TRUSTEE'S MEETING

Bids are ordered for work on Cerritos and Palmer

ADVERTISE BONDS

The Board Treated to Fine Apples. Notorious Goose Fence on Moore Avenue Taken Down and an Armistice Declared.

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held on Thursday evening. Trustee Webster being absent.

A number of people living in the vicinity of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, having complained about the bell at the street corner crossing being out of fix so often and frequently ringing all night to the annoyance and irritation of the neighborhood, the Clerk was instructed to write the street car company and ask if the company would not discontinue the bell, as it served no good purpose.

Due to the fact that street work on Glendale avenue had been held up pending adjustment of title to some property and that certain expense had been incurred and this having been due for over four months it was ordered that the incidental expenses be paid out of the general funds and the general funds be reimbursed from street levy when contract was finally awarded.

Frank Davis, with his usual genial smile appeared carrying a big sack of Rome Beauties and presented them to the Board with the compliments of the Davis Grocery Co. All business was suspended until the apples were eaten. Dr. Conrad informed the Board that apples were excellent medicine, and good for one's health. This statement was readily accepted by all present.

The resolution calling for bids for the $25,000 Fire Protection Bonds, was passed and notice of same ordered printed in the Sentinel. The City Clerk was also instructed to place a small ad, in each of the Los Angeles morning dailies for three consecutive Sundays.

The following accounts were allowed and the clerk instructed to draw warrants for same:

W. M. Tatum . . . $ 5.00
F. E. McGinnery . . . 10.00
T. B. Jones . . . 60.00

The contract for paving Cerritos street was awarded to F. R. Sinclair of Glendale, the bid being:

Grading, per lineal ft. . . 35
Oiling and tamping, sq. ft. . . 02 3/4
Curb work, lineal ft. . . 22
Sidewalks, sq. ft. . . 07 3/4

The contract for grading Palmer street was awarded to Peter L. Ferry. The price being:

Grading, per lineal ft. . . 24
Oiling and tamping . . . 02 3/4
Curb work, lineal ft. . . 22
Sidewalk, sq. ft. . . . 08

Resolution No. 128 ordering work on Boynton, was ordered printed.

The Board was informed by City Clerk Street that the "famous goose fence" on Moore had been taken down.

After adjournment, City Attorney Baker gave a dissertation on modern literature, which proved that he was an omnivorous reader, and that he possessed the happy faculty of holding closely the attention of his audience. His description of one of Hall Caine's late pieces was especially graphic.

CONVENTION SOON TO BE HELD HERE.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance, which has for the past few weeks been holding meetings at the First Christian church, corner Sixth and Louise streets, will hold a convention at the First Baptist church, corner Third and Louise street, on April 18, 19, and 20. Two sessions will be held daily, one at 2 and the other at 7:30 o'clock, p. m.

The speakers of the convention will be Rev. E. J. Richards, Home Secretary of the Alliance, of New York; Rev. G. W. Eldridge of Pasadena; Rev. G. W. Davis, Superintendent of Southern California, of Los Angeles, and Rev. Robert E. Glover. The latter speaker will give his beautiful stereopticon-illustrated addresses on Friday and Saturday evenings. The principal meeting of the session will be held Sunday evening, when Rev. Davis will preach from the subject, "Watchman, What of the Night?" The Alliance is inter-denominational in spirit and working.

Those Lankershim baseball fans are still crowding and daring any Tropic bunch to cross bats with them.

It's too bad every one can't live in Tropic. It does seem a pity that lots of good people are forced to live elsewhere.

There is so much building going on all over town that it's real aggravating the way the builders keep things littered up.

The East Side folks, with all their beautiful yards, flowering shrubs and general air of prosperity, enterprise and push is setting a splendid example of civic patriotism.

The ladies of Tropic and Glendale are saying a "hull lot" of nice things about the Sentinel. That's fine. I always did think the ladies were much nicer than the men, even as a young fellow.

An exchange from a nearby town uses a double column, 4-deck display head to herald the fact that 26 homes have been built in its town during the last twelve months. Tropic would times were awful dull if at least 50 homes were not built every month. One mail carrier reports 70 new houses on his route alone as having been occupied during the last year. And we are all new at town building. Just wait until we strike our real gait then you will see things move, sure enough.

Don't be a grouch. If things look bad, and the sky is overcast, and you think you haven't a friend in the world, force a smile—not a pale, sickly one, but a real good old grinning one. Then go do some one a kindly act and see how things will brighten up and friends come flocking round.

Well, suppose things are not going right? What are you doing to remedy them? Sulking in your own home, growling and grumbling and taking out your grouch on your wife and poor kids? Wake up and get a move on. Do you do anything for your town? Do you belong to the Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Club, or any other organization that is working for, or trying to work for the improvement of conditions? Don't sulk and growl, but get busy.

WHAT ABOUT TROPICO.

Hermosa Beach is planning to expend $12,000 for a five acre public play ground.

A NEW PLAN.

According to an exchange about six or eight years ago the business men of Henderson, Ky., the metropolis of a large but lagging agricultural district, organized a commercial club and set out to make their town a young Pittsburg. They proclaimed Henderson's advantages on billboards and sent their cleverest talkers to interview capitalists in the large cities. But months and years slipped by, and

A RARE TREAT.

The lovers of things beautiful and at the same time practicable in Los Angeles and vicinity have enjoyed a rare treat the past week.

Through the efforts of the Friday Morning Club, the Ebell Club, and the Polytechnic High School, Prof. Ralph Helm Johannett, graduate of the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and a student of Prof. Arthur Dow, Columbia, and the late Prof. Ernest Penhallow, and Imperial Art Commissioner to Japan, and late Director of the Imperial Art Museum, Tokio Art Museum, Tokio, gave two lectures at the high school and an instructive exhibit of his school of art work.

Prof. Johannett is trying to make art practicable and make it usable in our every day affairs. His mission is to teach one how to take the beauties of nature as a pattern and beautify our homes and our surroundings.

The samples of bark bending, hand carving, and hand stamping shown by him as results accomplished by following his teaching was in a number of instances truly marvelous. For instance, he teaches how to carve the block of wood into fancy designs, how to mix the ink or dyes, and how to stamp the goods or fabrics. He had taken a number of pieces of cheap cloth and converted them into beautiful creations.

Samples of Italian, Japanese and Chinese handicraft work was shown. An Italian handbag worked in colored beads of 200 years old was exhibited, and the coloring was as rich and brilliant apparently as when first made.

Prof. Johannett believes in bright colors, but believes in harmonizing them so they will blend and please.

Mrs. Salome L. Johannett, the wife of Prof. Johannett, is a loyal assistant, and as some of the ladies expressed it, a living expression of what Prof. Johannett teaches.

Good crowds attended the lectures and visited the exhibition rooms in the high school building. Much credit is due Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, chairman of the art department of the Friday Morning Club for bringing Prof. Johannett to Southern California. Mrs. Hutchinson worked indefatigably for many months before she scarcely any new factories were built. It took these men a long time to realize that they were wasting much precious time in misdirected effort. But at last came an inspiration. The progressive members of the club met the other day and resolved themselves into a crop improvement association, opened the membership books to everybody that would pay the annual dues of one dollar, and hired a farm expert by the year. The idea became popular with the farmers, who will control the policies of the organization. The Chicago Board of Trade became interested in the experiment and agreed to contribute $2,000 to help pay the first two years' expenses; and the Department of Agriculture will pay $50 a month of the expert's salary. The trained agriculturist will make laboratory tests of soils and dairy products, conduct practical demonstrations on farms, and give free advice to all who ask for it—in fact, do anything he sees fit for the promotion of better farming. The idea is a splendid one. It is based on the sound, fundamental truth that the soil is the source of new wealth. Most commercial clubs spend their energy and money trying to get factories away from other cities.

Likewise many merchants and business men spend their time in trying to get business away from others. This is a "dog eat dog" policy, and no good can come of it, for if you succeed in taking business away from a weaker brother today, tomorrow some one stronger than you will take it away from you. The right way and the modern way among real business men is to do like the Henderson people are reported to be doing—create new business. How? Perhaps you will ask. Just think a moment and see how many ways you can think of to create new and better business, and you will be surprised at the many opportunities offered.

THE MAN AND THE OPPORTUNITY.

It is a trait of the human family that during periods of great stress some one individual stands out in heroic proportions. Apparently the situation is grasped by him and unconsciously he assumes the leadership and others unhesitatingly look to such leadership for direction.

Such a man seems to have been John H. Patterson, of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Patterson is head of the National Cash Register Company, and he threw the whole force of that powerful organization into the rescue work of the stricken city. It was he, so reports say, who organized the first relief work. First drawing on a blackboard in his office one of his famous pyramids and marking it "Food relief temporary organization." He was the apex supported by seven columns, each bearing the name of a department head, who was entrusted with a specific task, such as "Heat, Water and Fuel." Then he took his son and daughter and went out into the rain to direct the labors of his staff. Though 69 years old he pulled at the oars like a hired boatman and rescued many. Mr. Patterson placed all the resources of the great plant of the National Cash Register Co., at the disposal of his fellow citizens. His woodworking factory began turning out a flat boat every fifteen minutes, to be used in rescuing marooned sufferers. His army of 7,100 employees became a vast relief force with efficient training and strict discipline; and he spent $25,000 a day to bring relief to the suffering who had not even food or drinking water in their homes in which they were imprisoned. Three special train-loads of provisions were sent from New York City at his direction, to keep the flood victims from starving before the Red Cross and Government aid could be organized and distributed.

After the work became somewhat organized, both the city of Dayton and the State made him head of the relief organization, and Governor Cox placed the State troops under his command.

successfully accomplished her purpose, and many who listened to Prof. Johannett and saw how cheaply and how simply they can adorn themselves and beautify their homes were very glad that she did succeed.

Splendid addresses were delivered by Mrs. W. L. Jones, President of the Ebell Club, Mrs. David Chalmers McCan, President of the Friday Morning Club, and Prof. Winterburn, Chairman of the Art Department of the Polytechnic High School.

Getting this exhibit to Los Angeles is an exemplification of what can be done by co-operation and unity of purpose. The Ebell Club, the Friday Morning Club and the Art Department of the High School worked together to secure this educational treat, lead on and enthused by Mrs. Hutchinson.

FROM FAR OFF CHINA.

Hotel Prinz Henrich, Tsingtau, March 11th.

Dear Friends and Sentinel:

Here we are almost on the other side of the world from you. I haven't heard from Tropic except the letters received at Honolulu written before I left home.

Tsingtau is away in the northern part of China and my hands are so cold from a drive we just had that I can hardly write, but by the time you receive this I will be melting with the heat in India. This place is owned by the Germans and is a German colony. Fifteen years ago it was a barren waste with the few mud huts the Chinese fishermen had built.

The Germans gained it from China as indemnity for the murder of two German missionaries and now they have built a wonderful thirty million dollar harbor and a fine modern, clean city. The Chinese here are very different from those in the south that we will see in Canton and Hong Kong. These are tall and large and still wear queues and the women bind their feet.

If you could see the wicker table that I am writing on that is constantly bumped by the crowd and hear the buzz of conversation you would excuse this message. The 490 passengers are at this hotel for lunch. This is quite a change from Japan and we can feel the difference already. Everything is German about this hotel. There has been a German band welcoming us from the time we docked and it is now out in front of the hotel. But Manila, with its stars and stripes, will certainly look good to us and we are only a little over a week from there. We leave here tonight and will be three days on the water till we reach Hong Kong, and all that time we will be along the coast of China; that gives one some idea of the size of the Chinese country, which holds one-third of the population of the world. Just think of that!

We miss the many babies that we saw along the streets of Japan. At Kyoto, March 4, Miss Hazel Kaden of Salinas and I had a most elegant room at the hotel, and I never thought things would be so grand as this outside of the States. Nagasaki was our last port in Japan and we had spent two weeks in that country and feel we gained a much better understanding of the people. We make two days coming across the Pacific so are two days ahead of schedule.

Well, there is a call for lunch so I will say goodbye.

Eulalia Richardson.

Word was received by Mrs. E. W. Richardson from the Hamburg-American Line that the steamship Cleveland, on which Miss Eulalia Richardson is making a world tour, arrived at Singapore, March 29th. Singapore is within 80 miles of the equator, and was founded in 1819 as a trading depot for the British in the East Indies. It is now considered the most important trading place in southeast Asia, and has a population of about 250,000. When the S. S. Cleveland passed the equator the usual custom of baptizing the gentlemen passengers in the ship's pool by "Father Neptune and his Court," was fittingly observed.

The party arrived at Rangoon, in India, on April 8, and were entertained most hospitably by the people of that distant land.

Miss Maud Hartley of San Diego, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Findley, 242 El Bonito, Mr. Findley says Miss Hartley is an exceptionally charming and accomplished young lady considering she comes from such a sleepy little place as San Diego. Miss Hartley expects to remain about a month.

TROPICO BOYS ARE HUSTLERS.

Notwithstanding the fact that it has been but a short time since A. J. McAdams purchased the interest of W. G. Black in the real estate business at the corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard and joined hands with his brother, these young men have demonstrated that they are hustlers of the right sort. H. L. McAdams has been a partner in this business for the past several months and when these brothers joined forces it was seen at once that they were live ones. They started out with a rush and have been rushing ever since. Both boys are well known here. They came to this valley several years ago. They have grown to know the people of this section and in return local residents have learned to hold them in high esteem and to consider them among the foremost business men of the valley. Both of these boys in turn have been managers of the Tropic Lumber Company and as a result that establishment is in an excellent condition. They are maintaining an auto service for the convenience of their patrons and their machines are seldom idle. It might be well to keep your eye on the little real estate office at the corner of Park and the boulevard.

During the past week the Glendale Investment Company reports the following sales: Three lots on Remington to Mary Jane Williams, who will at once begin the erection of three new homes on the property. A house from Theodore Hopping to C. G. Wilkinson on Fifth street, the price paid being stated as $1900. Lot on Louise street, just below Second street, from Fay Bradley to Frank E. Thorp, the consideration being named at $1200. House on Glendale avenue, near Maple, from Nathan Blanchard to W. W. Tarr. This home is being remodeled and the sale price was around $3500. Lot on Kenwood street from Dave Carney to Mr. Platt of the Iowa Realty Company of Glendale.

The New Store Building of Martin and Burk is nearing completion and it is understood that the ground floor store has been rented to a Los Angeles firm, who will open a first class dry goods store on about the 1st of May.

As soon as the Martin and Burk building is completed and ready for occupancy, Messrs. N. C. Burch and Henry Pettit will take offices on the second floor.

BOY SCOUTS HOLD STAR THEATRE.

On April 18, 1913, the Boy Scouts of Tropic, Troop No. 1, will hold the Star Theatre. The boys have 300 tickets to dispose of. Mr. Payne made them a splendid offer by giving them 50 per cent of the proceeds. If the boys sell the 300 tickets they will receive $15 for their beneficial fund. With the proceeds the boys will buy the things most needed by the scouts. They wish to have a full house, and there will be a show that will satisfy the public. Buy the tickets from the Boy Scouts. Price, 10 cents.

CIRCUS DAY!

Tuesday, April 8th, was Circus Day at the Tropic School. The circus was given by the Seventh Grade pupils, and was truly "Worth your money."

The clowns kept up a running fire of stunts which made children and old folks, alike, laugh. The tall man and woman tickled the little folks, while the elephant made the room roar with laughter. The dancers who were dressed in orange, were called in several times. Pink lemonade was served as refreshments.

Jolly Boon.

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Broadway school will be held in the school this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

SENTINEL DOING GOOD.

Several weeks ago the Jackson Realty Company, which recently took quarters in the Mission Building, at Third street and Brand boulevard, placed an advertisement in the Tropic Sentinel. The Jackson company state that since the publishing of the advertisement they have daily received inquiries in response to it. These responses come, Mr. Jackson says, from Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and other points. These men believe confidently that it would take longer than a day's travel to get from under the reach of the Tropic Sentinel's circulation.

Mrs. John Farrar and baby of Inyo are spending the week with Mrs. Wm. Halleck of Moore avenue.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Hosea Brown and Frank Lytell returned home Wednesday from the north where they attended the State High School track meet at Berkeley. In the semi-finals Brown placed second in the 220, and third in the 440-yard, but in the finals he did not place. Lytell won his race in the semi-finals of the high hurdles, but in the finals he came fourth, which does not place.

Saturday afternoon Glendale played Occidental second team a game of baseball on the High School grounds. The game became very exciting on account of a very close score, and in the ninth inning it was a tie. The game was played on to determine the winner and in the 11th inning Glendale scored, which made the score 4 to 3 in favor of Glendale. Glendale now stands at the head of the league, with 1000 per cent, and the hardest games played.

Thursday evening in the High School auditorium a piano recital was given by Mr. Bran Van Den Berg. The program consisted of Sonata by Domenico Scarlatti; Intermezzo, by Ludwig Schytte; Winds and Waves (Etude) by Theodore Leschetizky; in valse form by Camille Saint-Saens; Polonaise and Rhapsodie No. 12 by F. Liszt.

The Security Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles has just issued a comparative chart of the rainfall, as given by official records for Los Angeles county, from 1887-88 to date. The chart is comprehensive and contains much information.

Col. John Sobieski of Los Angeles, delivered two lectures at the Christian church, corner of Sixth and Louise streets, this week. The first was delivered on Monday evening, the subject being "My Army Life," while the second was on the topic, "The Polish Government."

Mrs. Wayland Brown is visiting in Alameda and expects to be gone about two weeks. Wayland is wandering around with that "O what's the use of living?" expression on his face and counting the hours until he can go to the depot to meet Mrs. Brown.

Dr. Thomas C. Young will tear himself away from business next week long enough to enjoy a trout-fishing trip in the Upper Sespe. That is one of Dr. Young's hiding-out places and during the trout season he enjoys many a tramp and fishing trip in that section.

The Social Committee of the Thursday Afternoon Club, informs us they are in readiness for a grand, good time Saturday evening, April 19th, when the club entertains their families at 6:30 p. m. sharp. Later music and games and some very interesting recitations. Much merriment is to be had over the costumes, its being an April Fool party. A charge of twenty-five cents from each will be collected to pay expenses. Ladies, be on hand early. The Sentinel was in error in making the announcement last week that there would be dancing.

Mrs. Myrtle Decker Abbott, a talented musician, is now living at 206 Palmer avenue. Mrs. Abbott has made many concert appearances in England and has studied with many celebrated teachers of singing and piano-forte, among them, being Ellen Beach Yaw, our California prima donna, Monsieur Lucien Berton, Madame Adiny-Milliet and Mlle. Alphonsine Rebay. Mrs. Abbott also coached with Madame Guy d'Hardelot, an English song writer, also with Signor Manrico Bocci.

Mr. Claire T. Van Etten, our own Van Etten, has formed a partnership with Groff and Montgomery under the firm name of Groff, Montgomery & Van Etten, with offices in the Trust and Savings Building. In this day of Socialism vs. Trusts it seems that lawyers are a necessary evil, and that the "common people" are forced to employ an attorney at times. If any Tropic people find themselves so unfortunate Mr. Van Etten promises to mitigate the evil as much as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Richardson have purchased and moved into the St. Clair home on Mira Loma and Gardena. This is one among the most attractive and comfortable homes in the valley.

Mr. D. O. Martin, one of our prominent and enterprising citizens, left on Tuesday for Terre Haute, Indiana, to attend to some of his business affairs in that section. This is Mr. Martin's old home, and he was very much agitated and distressed over the terrific destruction of property and loss of life recently caused by the cyclones and floods of the North Middle States. More than 350 houses were destroyed or damaged by the storms and floods in Terre Haute, and city records show the water to have been higher than at any previous year in its history.

At a meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in I. O. O. F. hall on Broadway Friday evening, it was found that after a struggle of two weeks for new members, the Whites (Boosters) under the leadership of M. P. Mr. Pettit is young, energetic, magnetic and a worker; Mr. Burch is wise, erudite and conservative.

The Elk's lodge of this valley banqueting the newly installed officers of the lodge in the organization's rooms on Broadway, Monday evening. There was something doing every minute, as there always is at the doings of this lodge. Following the banquet toasts were called for by Toastmaster Judge Austin, those responding being J. Herbert Smith, W. M. Kimball, and Dr. Mabry. The affair was a large family gathering and a most brotherly spirit prevailed. This lodge has in contemplation a barn dancing party which they will give in their rooms on the evening of April 24th. In the near future the members of the lodge, who are engaged in the moving picture business in this valley, will give a minstrel show, the affair to be held in the auditorium of the Glendale High School. Judge Melrose set a precedent last week. For 26 years the judge has been laboring steadily and without one vacation during all that time. So last Friday he locked up his desk, bound all the legal trespassers over till Monday and in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fox of Burbank, took an automobile trip to San Diego. They left Friday morning at 8 o'clock and reached San Diego at 4 p. m. Returning, they came the mountain route, which took them from 8 o'clock Sunday morning to 12 Sunday night. While in San Diego the judge secured the concession for the aerial street car exhibit at the San Diego exhibition.

A "stunt" party was given Saturday evening by the girls of the High School in auditorium and gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Coffman, 124 N. San Fernando road, entertained last Wednesday evening at dinner in honor of Mrs. Coffman's birthday anniversary. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Calvert and son Jack; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith, of Azusa; Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Goff, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Griffiths and daughter Ellean, of Covina; Miss Gertrude Pollard, of Los Angeles; Mrs. J. H. Adair and daughters, Altha and Pearl, and Leota Mae Coffman, of Tropic.

A limited number of invitations have been issued by the members of the Bar Z Club for the dancing party which the club will give in K. of P. hall on Brand boulevard, Friday evening. This promises to be an important social event.

A Homecraft Fair was given in I. O. O. F. hall on Broadway Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Carpenters' Union of this valley. This was strictly a home industry affair and the people of the valley demonstrated that they are interested in articles made at home. A short musical program was rendered during the evening.

Dr. A. M. Duncan of Tropic, has in his possession four parlor chairs that have been in his family for the past seventy-five years. These chairs are well worn but during the past week they experienced the beautifying touch of the hand of E. L. Young, of The Emporium.

During the past week the Presbyterian church of Tropic was given a complete renovation and it is expected that the work will be completed by the end of the week and will be ready for the services next Sunday. A special meeting of the congregation was held Wednesday evening for the purpose of considering the enlargement of the church. They are considering the erection of a building for the use of social work and Sunday School purposes. The weekly congregations are growing rapidly and on the whole the church is making unusually rapid progress.

RESCUE MOTHER AND CHILD ON DESERT.

Word was received this week from Glenn Wood of 349 Orange Grove avenue, and his cousin, Charles Crinklaw, of San Luis Obispo, who left several days ago for their ranch at Maricopa, Arizona, telling of the manner in which they rescued a mother and her child on the desert, twenty-five miles from the nearest town.

The young men traveled through San Diego and El Centro. In one section of Lower California they came to a place where the cactus were so thick that it was impossible for the auto to proceed and in order to make headway the party was compelled to travel for a distance of ten miles upon a railroad track. When in the center of this stretch the young men came across a stranded auto, in which were a mother and her child, who had been there for over a day without anything to eat or drink. The heat of the burning sun had acted upon their minds so severely that they were almost hysterical when found. The lady informed the rescuers that her husband had gone to the nearest town, which was about twenty-five miles distant for a new part of the machine to replace the part that was broken.

The young man took the unfortunate ones into their auto and hurried to the town for which the father had started. When they arrived there they learned that the twenty-five mile jaunt through the hot sands of the desert had completely exhausted the struggling man. After a short stay in the city the young men continued on their way to their Arizona ranch, being assured that the unfortunate ones were well on the way to recovery.

APHIDS

Sacramento.—Now that the period of hibernation is over and spring is coming on, an army of 50,000,000 ladybird beetles is being marshaled by State Horticultural Commissioner Cook to go forth to battle with the aphids that infest the cantaloupe and watermelon patches.

Commissioner Cook says the state insectary already has 46,000,000 of the hippodamia convergens, the stage name of the little amazon, packed in boxes of 3300 each and ready for shipment to the farmers and orchardists of the state. This is 2,000,000 more than were sent out last year.

Hosts of the ladybird beetles will be sent to the cantaloupe fields of Coachella and Imperial. As an experiment an advance guard of 165,000 beetles were shipped to Brawley to test their fighting powers in the barley fields. One species of the beetle is being tried out in the walnut groves of Contra Costa county.

Many requests have come from orchardists of other states, from Germany and even far away New Zealand for installments of these little friends, but the department is unable to undertake the service.
